Safeguarding Policy

Roke Volleyball Club is committed to ensuring the safety and welfare of its junior members, and follows Volleyball England's safeguarding policy and guidance. The club believes that all junior members should be able to train and play volleyball in a safe environment

Key principles

- All members should feel protected from abuse while participating in the sport, regardless of age, ability or disability, gender reassignment, race, religion or belief, sex or sexual orientation or socio-economic background
- The rights of the members should be respected at all times
- The club will
  - take all reasonable steps to ensure that unsuitable people are prevented from working with or having responsibility for other members
  - ensure that all member coaches have up to date DBS checks
  - ensure that members with responsibilities for junior members understand their roles with regard to safeguarding those junior members
  - appoint a Club Welfare Officer
  - ensure that, in the event of (or concerns of) abuse, appropriate action is taken and support is given to the individuals reporting the incident
  - ensure that there is no discrimination or harassment toward anyone raising a safeguarding concern in good faith
  - ensure that accurate records are taken of all safeguarding concerns, and that those records are treated as confidential and stored securely
  - report all concerns to Volleyball England
